

There is no justification for being allowed to read email. Just as the government is not permitted to open mail being sent through the US Postal service, email is a personal correspondence. Once you take that step, of being allowed to read that level of personal correspondence, then how long after will US Mail's sanctity be desecrated?